Access to and use of this website is subject to the following conditions. If you do not agree with these conditions, please refrain from using this website.

dignity and hope Association reserves the right to change the conditions of use at any time. This data protection declaration applies to the handling of personal data by dignity and hope Association in connection with use of the website www.dignityhope.org and its subpages. The website can contain links to third-party offers. This data protection declaration expressly does not apply to the handling of personal data by these third parties.

Personal data

Personal data are individual details about material or personal relationships of an identified or identifiable natural person. The following items of personal data can be sent to dignity and hope Association via the website: title, last name, first name, address, country, entrepreneurial status, telephone, e-mail address, data with which you provide us in the message field. The following items of personal data are transmitted automatically: IP address, name of the URL and the file accessed (website), HTTP response code, access date and time, scope of the data transmitted, message about whether access to the data was successful.

The personal data will be used for the following purposes: to answer inquiries, to send brochures on request, to send newsletters, to send information by post. The data collected automatically will be used to manage, protect and improve the website. This data will not be saved for longer than the duration of use of the website. Personal data shall not be passed on to third parties unless this is mandatory to meet the request or to process the inquiry.

Use of Google Analytics

This website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics uses "cookies", which are text files placed on your computer, to help the website analyze how users use the site. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website (including your IP address) will be transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. In case of activation of the IP anonymization, Google will truncate/anonymize the last octet of the IP address for Member States of the European Union as well as for other parties to the Agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases, the full IP address is sent to and shortened by Google servers in the USA. On behalf of the website provider Google will use this information for the purpose of evaluating your use of the website, compiling reports on website activity for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage to the website provider. Google will not associate your IP address with any other data held by Google. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser. However, please note that if you do this, you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. Furthermore you can prevent Google's collection and use of data (cookies and IP address) by downloading and installing the browser plug-in available under <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en-GB>.

Further information can be found under <http://www.google.com/analytics/terms/gb.html> (Google Analytics Terms of Service & Privacy). Please note that on this website, Google Analytics code is supplemented by "gat._anonymizelp();" to ensure an anonymized collection of IP addresses (so called IP-masking).

Social plug-ins from Facebook

We use social plug-ins from facebook.com, operated by Facebook Inc., 1601 S. California Ave, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA. The plug-ins can be recognized by way of the Facebook logo or the supplement "Facebook Social Plug-in". For example, if you click on the "Like" button or leave a comment, the relevant information is transmitted directly from your browser to Facebook and stored there. Furthermore, Facebook makes your likes public for your Facebook friends. If you are logged into Facebook, it can assign the invocation of our page directly to your Facebook account. Even if you are not logged in or don't have a Facebook account, your browser sends information (e.g. which web pages you have called up, your IP address) which is then stored by Facebook. For details about handling of your personal data by Facebook and your related rights, please refer to the data privacy policy of Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/policy.php>. If you do not want Facebook to map data collected about you via our Web sites to your Facebook account, you must log out of Facebook before you visit our web pages.

Social plug-ins from Twitter

With Twitter and its Retweet functions, we use social plug-ins from Twitter.com, operated by Twitter Inc. 795 Folsom St., Suite 600, San Francisco, CA 94107. If you use Retweet, the websites visited by you are announced to third parties and associated with your Twitter account. Details about handling of your data by Twitter as well as your rights and setting options for protecting your personal information can be found in Twitter's data privacy policy: http://twitter.com/privacy
